Part 1

Generation No. 1

1. JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup> KLOCK (HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born 1714 in Canajoharie, Montgomery County, New York, and died 1789 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery County New York. He married MARIA CATHARINE WALRATH 1737, daughter of HEINRICH WALRATH and ANNA MATHEUS. She was born 1714 in Stone Arabia, Montgomery County, New York, and died Bef. 1807 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery County New York.

Notes for JOHANGUERGH KLOCK:

Old George was born in 1714 and died in 1789 or 1790

Also known Johan Guergh ( Old George )

Notes from the SOK Genealogy:

George Klock Sr, lived near the banks of Crum Creek on the flats of the Mohawk on the north side of the river and but a short distance away from the upper Canajoharie Castle of the Mohawk, which was then located where the present Indian Castle now is. The activities of this man would fill a volumn of interesting reading. Little has been said of him but what was defamatory. Probably no man in the Mohawk valley achieved greater notoriety that he in his quarrel with his arch enemy Sir William Johnson, when the vituperations of the latter was heaped upon him when that gentleman sought to wrest the land from him and acquire it for himself.

George Klock has left no written pages to tell his side of the story but in the "Sir William Johnson Papers", and Colonial Documents, one can find the reason and result of this battle for land between the two. On one side was arrayed the mighty Sir William Johnson, then at the height of his fame and power, backed by the throne of England with the multi-ramifications of intrigue and deceit among those who sat high in power at the time, aided and abetted by certain ones among his red-skinned consorts. His castigation of George Klock was merciless---as merciless in its intensity as was the venom of his son Sir John, when that ruthless miscreant rent the fair valley of the Mohawk asunder with his deeds of violence and bloodshed.

Pitted against this array of might and power was this impassive man of the Mohawk country, "Old George Klock", Mohawk valley Dutchman and farmer, whom Sir William said "ought to be hung". But against the tremendous odds that confronted him, this stout hearted Dutchman, George Klock, never faltered, but faced Sir William and his bastard brood of half breeds, and in the end retained then land which he had fought for long after Sir William had passed away, and Mollie Brant, his copper hued paramour had left the valley never to return.

Of the moral character of the two men, Sir William Johnson the educated and highly gifted man of affairs, and George Klock the lowly Dutch farmer, little need be said. All we know of the character of George Klock, has come from the pen of Sir William himself, and the writers who have come along since have enlarged upon that to such an extent that the name of George Klock is synonymous with nearly all the villainy with which mankind is possessed. Sir William has said that he made the Indians drunk to obtain their signatures to certain deeds of land. But it must be remembered that these same Indians petitioned the Crown to let him have the land, that King Hendrick their chief protested vigorously against the use of rum amongst his people, and implored the officials not to let it come into the valley. George Klock lived as a neighbor to the warlike Mohawks, and lived in peace, even as Hendrick his father had before him, and their friendly relations with the Klock family seems not to have grown less over the quarrel between Sir William and a member of that family.

History has recorded enough of the moral character of Sir William Johnson to dim a life that otherwise might have been filled with a greatness that would have otherwise might have been filled with a greatness that would have been a shining example to those who came after. Certain writers have sought to gloss over his mis-doing, but the fact remains that he was just about the most licentious and polygamous mortal that ever invested the Mohawk valley. Such was the man who defamed the name of George Klock. Sir William Johnson, whom Lossing the historian says was the father of a hundred children, chiefly by native mothers, whom he brought into this world by his adulterous intercourse with the comely wives of Indian braves, and virgin maidens alike. So again we say, such was the man who defamed the name of this much-maligned man of the Mohawk, George Klock.

Little in history is recorded of him, but he probably was the most prominent man in that vicinity when the Revolutionary war broke. That he allied himself with the cause need not be questioned, and that he gave freely to it cannot be doubted. He was a large landholder, and his holdings comprised many thousand of acres. In 1754, he and William Nellis Jr. obtained some 16,000 acres, which was known as the "Klock and Nellis Patent". This was to provide homes for the growing pioneer families, who were not afraid to hew a home out of the forest even amid the scenes of Indian warfare that was then being carried on between the colonies of England and France all about them.

The above was written by Sherman O. Klock. From reading his genealogy and his unpublished work, "Reminiscences" of Sherman O. Klock, I find Sherman was very passionate about his genealogy, his research and what he claims was "bad rap" history has given Old George Klock. Sir William Johnson, no doubt, did a lot of good things. "Old George" left no writing to tell his side of the story and all we have is the writings of Sir William for history to "judge" this man. Old George should not be judged totally by the writings of Sir William Johnson, as there two men were bitter enemies. Both these men were prominent men in the valley, large landholders, and both had the same goal, to accrue as much land as possible. I think the truth lies somewhere in the middle of this controversy, as both were relentless in their attempt to acquire land. George Klock may not have had the education of that of Sir William, but he was not a lowly Dutch farmer. He was a wealthy Dutch farmer with his own addenda, to become the richest man in the valley regardless of whose toes he had to steped on to accomplish this goal.

2. JACOB GEORGE<sup>3</sup> KLOCK (JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup>, HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born March 09, 1737/38 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery Co. New York, and died September 10, 1814 in Kingston, Ulster Co., New York. He married (1) HANNAH ( ANNA ) NELLIS April 07, 1763 in Stone Arabia Reformed Church, Albany Co. New York, daughter of CHRISTIAN NELLIS and BARVALIS KLOCK. She was born July 28, 1745 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery Co. , New York, and died January 18, 1780. He married (2) MARITJA BEEKMAN September 30, 1784 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery Co., New York. She was born January 16, 1758 in Kingston, Ulster County, New York, and died May 03, 1836 in St. Johnsville, Montgomery Co. New York.

Notes for JACOB GEORGE KLOCK:

Jacob G. Klock practiced law in Kingston, New York and was a member of the Assembly for Temporary Government of the So. District of New York during the Revolution. He also was a member of the first State Senate.---The Family Tree of Ronald ORourke has Jacob died 10 Sept. 1814 in St. Johnsville, New York.

Notes from the Sherman O. Klock Genealogy:

Jacob G. Klock was born March 9, 1738, died Sept 19, 1814, married 1st. April 7, 1763, Anna Nellis, daughter of Christian Nellis.

Jacob G. Klock married 2nd, Maritje Beekman, born in Kingston, N.Y. Jan. 16, 1758, died May 3, 1836. They were married Sept. 30, 1784. She was the daughter of Cornelius Beekman and Catrina Schoomaker the daughter of Hendrick Schoomaker and Tryntje Osterout. Catrina was born March 13, 1736. Cornelius Beekman ws born Sept. 3, 1733, and was the 8th child of Thomas Beekman and Maria Wynkoop and Judickje Bloodgood.

Thomas Beekman, born April 13, 1689 at New York, died in Kingston July 11, 1759, married Maria Wynkoop, Jan. 14, 1715, at Kinston, N.Y. He was the son of Johannes Beekman, baptised Nov. 22, 1656, and Aeltja Thomas Poppinga, who he married in New York March 4, 1685. She was the daughter of Thomas Laurensen Poppinga from Groeninger, and widow Haritje Jans.

Johannes Beekman was the son of William Beekman born April 28, 1623 at Hasselt in Oberyssal, died Sept. 21, 1707, and Catalint De Boog from Amsterdam, whom he married Sept 5, 1649 in New York. SHe was the daughter of Hendrick De Boog and _____ Stagboom.

William Beekman was the son of Hendrick Beekman born Sept. 14, 1585 and who lived at Keulen. He was married three times, Most of descendants are form his 2nd. wife, Maria Baudartins (posibly the present day Bauder) the daughter of the Rev. William Baudertins.

Maria Beekman, babtised June 26, 1650, was a daughter of the above Hendrick Beekman. She was the 1st. wife of Nicholas Stuyvesant, son of Gov. Peter Stuyvesant, who she married May 5, 1672. She died before 1681.

Jacob G. Klock was the man whoes name appered on the Oriskany Monument from the time of its erection, and dedication which occured August 6, 1884, till the 150th anniversary August 6, 1927, when the initial G. was erased, leaving it as it should be, Col. Jacob Klock. (see line of Jacob Klock (No. 4)

I find no record of Jacob G. Klock having served either as an officer or private in the Revolution. This may be due to the fact that when the trying days of 1776 came, and a state government was formed the following year, and when the assembly met at Kingston in September of that year, he was there as representative from Tryon county. This was a month after the battle of Oriskany was fought, and while he may have taken part in that battle, there is no evidence to show that he did. Probably his on-coming duties as the representative of Tyron county prevented him from being there. Nothing else I am sure would have prevented it, for there is no question about his patriotism. Had he been otherwise he wouldn't have been called to represent the patriots of Tyron county.

He served in that capacity until the year 1784. Besides being senator for the western district, he was made one of the four Commissioners of forfeiture for the western district, which comprised Albany and Tyron counties. He served in this capacity for October 22, 1779 until March 21, 1788, when the office was abolished. This too, was a very important office. On February 2, 1778, he was appointed Judge of Montgomery county, which was changed from Tyron to Montgomery, in resentment of the Colonial Governor Tyron, and in honor of General Montgomery. He served in this capacity as late May 1, 1787, when he appeared at the proof of the will of his uncle Johannes, the son of Hendrick first settler. And again we find him as commissioner of highways in the year 1786. This too was a most important commission at that time.

Had George Klock, his father, been as villainous as painted by Sir William Johnson, this son would hardly have been selected to fill the important positions he did. Reared as he was in a wilderness filled with wild beasts, and within sight of the village of the Mohawks across the river from his residence, he seems somehow to have received a better education than most of those of his day. He was an excellent penman, as numerous papers, bearing his writing, in my possession show. He also belonged to the Masonic lodge.

JACOB G. KLOCK. During the Revolutionary War he co-resided with George Klock on 300 acres of land in Lots 16 & 17 of the Harrison Patent (Certificates of Quit Rent Remissions, Mss #A1211, Box D7816).----Ken D. Johnson, The Bloodied Mohawk

3. GEORGE G.<sup>3</sup> KLOCK (JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup>, HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born November 12, 1742 in Stone Arabia, New York, and died July 26, 1834 in Stone Arabia, New York. He married CATHARINE BELLINGER August 10, 1765 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Schoharie County, New York, daughter of JOHAN BELLINGER and SOPHIE LAWYER. She was born July 23, 1748 in Schoharie, Schoharie County, New York, and died July 11, 1827.

Notes for GEORGE G. KLOCK:

George G. Klock was born and lived his life a house that was built by his father. It was believed that the house was built in 1760. The house may have been built at a later date than 1760. All of George G. Klock's children were born there. George was a private in the Tryon Co. Militia under his Uncle, Col. Jacob Klock. He inherited much of his fathers estate and became known as one of the wealthiest land owners in Central New York.---Billinger Book and the Klock/Clock Genealogy.---Family Tree of Jackie Zimmer, Az.

The following is from the SOK Genealogy: George G. Klock, born Nov. 12, 1742, died July 26, 1834, married July 10, 1766, Catherine Bellinger, born Sept. 16, 1748, died July 11, 1827, the daughter of Johan Jost Bellinger, born Feb. 4, 1712, who married Oct. 20, 1733, Sophia, the daughter of Johannes Lawyer, the surveyor and proprietor of Lawyer's Patent. Johan Jost Bellinger was the son of Markus, soldier of the War of 1711. The only son of Jost and Sophia was John Lawyer Bellinger who married Margaret, the daughter of George Klock.

George G. Klock was a private in the regiment of his uncle, Col. Jacob Klock, and as such undoubtedly saw much service in the Revolution. He sees to have inherited much of his fathers estate, and became known as one of the wealthiest land owners in central New York. Just where he lived at the time of the war we do not know, but after that strife had ended we find him located to the east of the East Canada Creek, and in close proximity to the present homestead of Silbert Klock a great-great grand son. Silbert Klock has the deed of this tract of land which originally contained 800 acres I beleive, and which was granted to George Klock Sr. during the reign of King George, and which bears the several signatures of chiefs of the Mohawks, who drew on the parchment the figures representing their clans, such as the "Turtle", "Bear", "Wolf" ect. This remarkable document was well preserved when the writer saw it, the crude drawings of the Indians standing out as clearly as when they were made a century and a half ago.

The portion of this tract which contains the farm and residence of Silbert Klock, has never been out of the possession of some one of this family since the land was granted, and today is one of the finest homesteads in the Mohawk Valley. George G. Klock and his wife Catherine are buried in the family plot on the farm of Silbert Klock, and can noted by their tombstones therein. The funeral of George was held at 10 A.M. Monday July 28, 1834, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Mason, from the text 1st. Samuel, 20 chapter and 3rd verse. He was survived by 10 children, 80 grandchildren and 81 great grand children.

The Family Register of George Nellis has George G. Klock and Catharine Bellinger with 16 Children; Peggy, Joseph, Sophia, Caty, Jacob, George, John, Henry, Hannah, David, Caty, Peter, Elizabeth, Polly Caty, (another Caty) and Evaline.

SOK Genealogy says George and Catherine Bellinger were married July 10, 1766---Found on line---Marriages at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Schoharie--- August 10, 1765- Jurgen Klock, Jr. and Catharina Bellinger.

The Late Irving Klock

Some Reminiscences of the Family of Which He Was a Member

St. Johnsville, April 23, --Irving Klock whose tragic death occurred at Little Falls Wednesday, was well known here. He was a great grandson of George Klock, the well known revolutionary patriot of that name. Colonel George Klock resided between West St. Johnsville and East Creek, the house and part of the farm being in possession of Ray Hilldebrant, who wife a granddaughter of George Timmerman, the former proprietor and one of the most prominent of St. Johnsville's farmers in his day. Considerable of the farm, however, belongs to Silbert Klock, son of the late Hiram Klock, who was a son of John B. Klock, son of Colonel George Klock. Other children of John B. Klock were; Rueben, father of deceased; David, who resided in Danube; Mrs. Henry P. Bellinger of St. Johnsville; Mrs. Henry D. Elwood of Florida, Montgomery County; Mrs. Charles Walrath of Onieda, and Elizabeth, who lived single. Rueben resided in the eastern part of Danube and was one of the substantial men of that town. He died about 1897. His wife, who survived him a few years, was Barbara A., daughter of Phillip C. Bellinger of Danube. Christian, Phillips father, came from what is now the town of Root, the Bellingers have been among the earliest settlers in the valley, Christian came during the latter years of the 18th century. Although quite young at the time he had a record as a soldier of the Revolution. His wife was Barbara Devendorf, a lady belonging to a numerous connection among the Palatine settlers, Phillip (died February, 1872), was at one time the largest property holder in Danube. His wife, a lady of the Zimmerman family, died a few years before himself. Phillip C. Bellinger is still remembered by those who had dealings with him as a man of unimpeachable integrity, whose word was as good as his bond. Mr. and Mrs. Bellinger were the parents of ten children, all of whom survived them. A few years ago one of the ten, Gertrude, wife of J.M. Bellinger of Currytown, died. Other children of Christian and Barbara Billinger were: Jacob Billinger and Mrs. Peter Sharp of the town of Little Falls, Mrs. Conrad Mowers of Stark, Mrs. Conrad Snell of Danube and Mrs. Abraham Snell of Minden. Phillip C. Bellinger and his son-in-law, Reuben Klock, had many points in common. Both were hard working, thrifty farmers, who achieved financial success in their calling, both were unswerving Democrats, without taste for political manipulation or greed for official distinction and both held to the tenets of the Universalist school in theology. Reuben Klock settled in the eastern part of Danube, not far from the Minden postoffice, and resided until his decease. Mrs. Klock also remaining there until she passed on a few years later. On the decease of his parents, Irving Klock came into possession of the home farm. A few years later an invalid sister, the only unmarried one of the family, passed away, leaving him quite alone in the world he married Mrs. Peeler, widow of John Peeler (died 1896) of East Creek. Having no children to assist him he decided to retire from active labor and leasing the farm removed to Little Falls. He is survived by three brothers, Bryon of Fall Hill, Danube, Elmer, who resides in Danube, near Minden, and Walter, who is an invalid, and three sisters, Iantha, widow of Charles M. Zoller of Minden; Mary G., wife of George W. Spoor of Newville and Alice, wife of Fraser Showerman of Minden. Another brother, Emmett, who resided in Minden, opposite St. Johnsville, died there (where his family still resides), a few years ago. Another child died in infancy. Like his father, deceased was a Democrat politically, and a Universalist theologically. Other relatives are Frank P. Klock of First National Bank of St. Johnsville; Walter Elwood, who had a position in the educational work in the Philippines; Emery Bellinger of Sylvan Beach; Otto Bellinger of Los Angeles, Cal.; George P. Bellinger, ex-supervisor of Danube, and Earl J.

Bellinger of Sherman, Chautauqua county, New York.

4. ELIZABETH CATHARINE<sup>3</sup> KLOCK (JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup>, HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born Bet. 1744 - 1748 in Stone Arabia, Montgomery County, New York, and died Bef. 1845. She married (1) HUNTER SCOTT QUACKENBOSS. She married (2) EBENEZER COX February 07, 1769 in Dutch Reformed Church, Stone Arabia, NY. He was born Abt. January 18, 1749/50, and died August 06, 1777 in Battle of Oriskany, New York.

Notes for ELIZABETH CATHARINE KLOCK:

After the death of her husband, Ebenezer Cox, Elizabeth married Hunter Scott Quackenboss, (Quackenbush of the present day) who is said to have been the son of David and Ann Scott Quackenboss married May 11, 1623. David in turn was the son of Peter and Jane Ten Broeck Quackenboss married Dec. 24, 1602. Peter was in turn the son of Jacob. Jacob in turn was the son of Walter and a ? Brumer, who was the grand daughter of Annake Jans.

Note: We do not vouch for the authenticity of the "line" of Hunter Scott Quackenboss, as given above.

SOK Genealogy

Notes for EBENEZER COX:

Ebenezer Cox was a Col. in the Revolutionary War and was one of the first to fall in the ambush at Oriskany, New York.

From the SOK Genealogy: Elizabeth Klock born _____ (while her birth is recorded in Vol 1, page 9, Stone Arabia Reformed Dutch Church records, the date is missing. But from entries preceding it, and those that come directly after, it is safe to say that her birth was between the years 1744, and 1748. She died _____.

Simms the historian says that Ebenezer Cox, married Margaret Klock, but the one who recorded the marriage of Ebenezer in the Stone Arabia church books set her name down as Elizabeth, and so say others related to her by descent. Of the ancestry of this man, or the time of their coming to this country, the writer knows nothing at all. However, when the war dogs of Mars were let loose at the beginning of the Revolution we find him living in Minden, probably on land belonging to his father-in-law, George Klock Sr., and in close proximity to the upper castle of the Mohawks.

With the promotion of Nicholas Herkimer from Colonel to the 1st Regiment (Canajoharie) of Tyron county militia, to the highest command of the entire four regiments which comprised it, Cox who then was a Lieut. in the Canajoharie regiment, was made a Colonel. Tradition says that he was a man of powerful build, swarthy of complexion and utterly fearless: one can readily believe all that, and too. that he was blunt in his speech, and rash and impetuous in manner. He went with his commander to Unadilla, when the latter went there to hold a conference with Joseph Brant, the Indian chieftain, who was then beginning his career of murder and destruction.

At a meeting held at the camp of General Herkimer, between himself and Brant, and a number of their respective followers, Cox it is said almost caused a clash between the Indians and Herkimer's force, by his sarcastic remarks to Brant, with whom he had quarrelled some years before. This hostility between them was probably engendered by the bitter feeling between Sir. William Johnson and George Klock Sr. over a contest for the land titles a few years before. Be that as it may, his hot words flung in the face of Brant at such a time, made him a marked man and sounded his death knell, and he probably knew it.

Yet on the morning of the 6th. of August, 1777, we find him no less caustic in his talk with his General, who, when he could no longer bear the taunts of disloyalty and cowardice, gave the order for his little army to march. And march they did----straight into the fatal ravine at Oriskany. The regiment of Colonel Cox was the first to enter, followed by Col. Klock, Col. Visscher, and John Joseph Herkimer the Colonel commanding the 4th battalion. Down the slope and out upon the rough corduroy road that led across the swampy ground they went in safety, quite unconscious that danger lurked so near at hand, when the air was rent by the terrifying and demoralizing war whoops of a thousand dusky foemen thirsting for their blood.

History has revealed but little concerning this bloody encounter in which nearly half of those engaged were killed or wounded. But it is quite likely that when Colonel Cox marched out on the causeway, more than one pair of beady eyes had marked him for death, at the command of Brant, and he probably fell at the first withering discharge from the guns of the concealed foe. Like others who perished there that dreadful day, the body of Colonel Cox was never recovered, but lay as it fell, perhaps to be mangled later by savage beast or bird of prey, and finally to become returned to earth by the elements which surrounded it. Such was the fate of this brave and impetuous man who gave his all for his country.

5. CATHARINE<sup>3</sup> KLOCK (JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup>, HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born 1747 in Stone Arabia, New York, and died July 26, 1834. She married HENDRICK WALRATH. He was born 1737 in Stone Arabia, Montgomery Co., NY, and died 1791.

Notes for HENDRICK WALRATH:

Will of Henry Walradt of Minden

Dated April 14, 1815. Probate January 19, 1822.

Sons, Adam, Peter H., and Jacob. Daughters, Anna (wife of Henry Moyer), Catherine (wife of Henry I. Dollar), Margaret (wife of Solomon Satman), Mary (wife of Stephen Scubee or Scribbee), Elizabeth (widow of Moses Van Campen).

Information on the Walrath Family is from the Internet. Jerome A. Walrath, whose line goes back to James H. Walrath, son of William P. & Lydia (Dey) Walrath. James H. was a grandson of Peter H. Walrath & Anna Eva (Helligas) Walrath, who are buried in Robinson Farm Cemetery, also known as the Coleman Cemetery in the town of Canajoharie, Montgomery County, NY. Walrath and its spelling variations is one of the earliest and most widespread surnames in the Mohawk Valley.

SOK Genealogy: They lived 1and 1/2 miles west of Palatine Bridge on the old turnpike road, on the farm that has since been known as the "Ehle farm" Henrich Walrath, and we think Catherine also is buried there. The tombstone of Henrich may be seen from the road. Time has effaced the letterine, so no dates tell the time of birth, or age at the time of death. The first child born to Henrich and Catherine that we find any record of, is Audolph, born April 4, 1767, and baptised on the same day. (Stone Arabia Reformed church record. Vol. 1, page 26.) Johannes Walrath, and Margaret Klock, who we assume was the sister of Catherine, and who later married Johannes Lawyer Bellinger, the son of Johan Jost Bellinger, and Sophia Lawyer, the daughter of Johannes Lawyer, the surveyor who was a proprietor of the "Lawyer Patent" acted as sponsors. If Audolph was the first child, and Catherine married at the conventional age, then she must have been born in the year 1739 or 1740, which would place her between Jacob and George G.. This however is conjectural as there may have been children born before Audolph, and she then would come before Jacob G., born March 9, 1738.

Children of CATHARINE KLOCK and HENDRICK WALRATH are:

- i. HENRY<sup>4</sup> WALRATH.
- ii. JACOB WALRATH.

Notes for JACOB WALRATH:

There is a Jacob Walrath (Walroath) buried in Sand Hill Cemetery, Canajoharie. Not sure if same Jacob Walrath.

Jacob I Walroath died May 6, 1828 age 68. (born in 1760)

- iii. AUDOLPH WALRATH, b. April 04, 1761.
- iv. ELIZABETH WALRATH, b. August 05, 1764.
- 29. v. PETER H. WALRATH, b. 1766, Stone Arabia, Montgomery Co., NY; d. November 17, 1834, Stark, Herkimer Co., NY.
- vi. JOHANNES WALRATH, b. October 13, 1768.

6. ANNA G.<sup>3</sup> KLOCK (JOHANGUERGH<sup>2</sup>, HENDRICK<sup>1</sup>) was born February 15, 1752 in Stone Arabia, Montgomery Co. , New York, and died October 17, 1804. She married JACOB I. KLOCK February 13, 1770 in Palatine, Montgomery, New York, son of JOHANNES KLOCK and ANN FUCHS. He was born October 17, 1746, and died February 22, 1828.

Notes for ANNA G. KLOCK:

Anna G. Klock was the daughter of Johanguergh ( George ) Klock. Johanguergh was the son of Hendrick Klock. Anna Klock, wife of Jacob I. Klock, was born February 15th, 1752 and d. October 17, 1804. Aged 52 years 8 months and two days.--Cemetery Record found on the Fort Klock Web Page.

More About ANNA G. KLOCK:

Burial: Old Klock Cemetery , St. Johnsville, New York

Notes for JACOB I. KLOCK:

Jacob I. Klock lived on a farm a mile or more to the east of St. Johnsville, N.Y., on a road leading north from the turnpike, Jacob I. is buried by himself by the side of this road, and but a short distance from their old homestead. Anna G. is buried in the old Klock burial ground near where the church stood in earley days.

Jacob was a member in the regiment of Col. Jacob Klock, and was at the battle of Oriskany. Simms the historian states that he was shot near or at Whites Creek by an enemy and that his horse turned and ran. But he does not say that Jacob did not regain control of the animal and return to his batallion. Jacob I. is said to have become disaffected during the last stages of the war, and joined a number of others who fled to Canada to unite with the British cause. There may have been a reason for his doing that, far different than the reason for the act would imply. What ever the truth may be his land was not confiscated, nor does his neighbors seem to have borne him any ill will.----SOK

Notes for CHRISTIAN KLOCK:

From the Sherman O. Klock Genealogy:

Christian Klock, after the death of Col. Jacob Klock in 1798, lived on the homestead farm of the Colonel who had willed it to Christian's wife Eva, and who came into possession of it upon her grand father death. The old dwelling place of the Colonel, which had witnessed many stirring scenes during the Revolution, and which had escaped the torch of the incendiaries who ran mad throughout the valley, was torn down about the year 1830, and a new house erected in its place; this building is still standing (1932) and is owned by the widow of the late Sheldon Klock, who bought the house and lot from the Snell estate. I might add that Sheldon Klock, was not closely related to Christian Klock, or his wife Eve, and did not inherit this property as has been said. Sheldon Klock married a Powell for his first wife, and the widow of John F. Klock for this second. The maiden name of his second wife was Lillian Richards, the daughter of Warren Richards.

Near this home, and perhaps on the very spot, Hendrick Klock the pioneer settler built his dwelling of logs not later than 1723, and near there he spent his remaining days. Near it once stood the old Klock Church, and close by it the old Klock burial ground, where now lie many of name with unmarked graves. This Klock Church probably was built about 1750, and by Colonel Jacob Klock. Christian Klock served in the war of 1812 as Lieut. of the 1st. Regt. N.Y.S. militia.

Joseph G. Klock first married Dorthy Zimmerman, daughter of Lieut. Henry Zimmerman, born Jan. 10, 1738, died May 18, 1807, and Margaret Bellinger, born in 1752 and died in 1815. Joseph and Dorthy were married June 11, 1792. They had Margaret, who married John Beekman Klock; Daniel, who married Anna Devendorf; Catherien, who married David Klock; Eva, born June 6, 1799, died Dec. 12, 1802; Elizabeth, born Feb. 24, 1804.

Joseph G. Klock married a second time, Elizabeth Moyer, born April 12, 1771, died Aug. 14, 1809. No record of any children born to this union.

Joseph G. Klock's third marriage was to Christina Borst who was born May 18, 1777 and died May 14, 1817. Joseph G. and Christina Borst had Nancy who was born Jan. 15, 1810, died Aug. 7, 1824; Maria, who married Edwin E. Snell; James C., who died young; William, who died in infancy; Christina who married Isaac Finehaut, or "Finehart", and resided in Detroit, Mich. They had four children.

Joseph G. Klock married a fourth time on May 14, 1818. He married Elizabeth Devendorf Fox who was born Sept. 3, 1772, died Oct. 1, 1836. She was the widow of John Fox. To this union was born a daughter, Elizabeth Fox who married Nicholas Klock. Elizabeth died on her wedding day, and Nicholas Klock later married again to Lucinda Foster. Lucinda was the niece of the celebrated hunter and trapper, Nat Foster.

Joseph Klock was buried in Old Klock Cemetery along with his four wives. He was a trustee of the St. Johnsville Church in 1804. He was Senior Elder when the church was incorporated July 6, 1816. He was a Private in the Revolutionary War ( DAR 12851 ) in Col. Jacob Klock Regiment and a Captain in the war of 1812. ( Council of Appointments, Military Records from 1784 to 1821 Montgomery Co. NY.

Joseph G. Klock died in 1846 at the age of 77 years and 10 days. Joseph Klock and his four wives are buried in the old Klock burying ground a short distance east of St. Johnsville, N.Y. The markers are rough field stone and lettered with a chisel, the given name of the wives being greatly abbreviated.

Information from the Family Tree of Jackie Zimmer, Az., the SOK Genealogy, the Klock/Clock Genealogy, Family Register compiled by George Nellis in 1866, and from the letters of Joseph G. Klock, compiled by his Great-Great grandson, Earl Herbert Klock. These letters are wonderful reading and can be found on the Three Rivers Web Site.

- vi. SAMUEL KLOCK, b. November 04, 1804; d. January 18, 1896; m. M.S.A. TIMMERMAN.

Notes for SAMUEL KLOCK:
SOK Genealogy:

Marriage date taken from his Obituary at the time of his death in Freetown, N.Y. M.S.A. Timmerman of Watertown, N.Y. was alive at the time of Samuels death. In his obituary it states, "that Samuel was the son of Jacob, and grandson of George G. Klock, who in leased land days was one of the most extensive lease land holders between Utica and Albany."

From the Obituary in part: Dr. Willoughby ordered Samuel on the road for health a pure air. It thus occurred that he wandered over to Freetown and became one of the pioneer settlers, buying in March 1837, the farm upon which he lived, with the exception of a few years, till the day of his death, at half past 9 o'clock in the morning of Jan 18, 1896.

He lived for about seven months in McGrawville, N.Y. becoming a member of the Presbyterian church of that place, July 8, 1885. Thence he removed to Auburn, N.Y. , where he lived for about three years, when he returned to his Freetown home to spend the remainder of his days.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J.J. Cowles, pastor of the Presbyterian church of McGrawville, N.Y. The bearers were Thomas Davidson, Harvey Z Tuttle, Joel Chrysler and Summerville Caldwell.

No children were born of the union of Samuel Klock and M.S.A. Timmerman.

John Nellis was the son of John D. Nellis and Nancy Garloch

SOK Genealogy; note: In the St. Johns Reformed church books at St. Johnsville, N.Y. are found the names of some of the children of John I.D. Nellis, and Elizabeth Klock, as recorded by his request.

The Family Registry compiled by George Nellis of Ashtabula, Ohio May 7, 1866 has the date of birth of John I.D. Nellis as Feb 24, 1786. Died Dec. 3, 1849, aged 66 years.

John D. Nellis, was the father of John I.D. Nellis. He was born Dec. 10, 1755, and died March 1, 1849. He married a Nancy who was born Dec. 1751 and died Sept. 1845. They had six children; John I.D. Nellis who was born Feb. 24, 1783, and died Dec. 3, 1849; David Nellis, born July 3, 1785 and died Sept. 9, 1789; Nancy Nellis, born Feb. 11, 1787, married Danial Ferguson; Barnhardt Nellis, born Feb 1, 1790, married Catharin Keller and died Aug. 10. 1847; Maria Nellis, born June 14, 1792, married Joseph Bruce; David Nellis, born March 4, 1795. who died in infancy.

John D. Nellis was my Grandfather. His father was born Dec. 25, 1729 and died at the age of 89 years and 4 days. His name was David Nellis. He was a Farmer and Weaver; he had but one son, but he had 3 or 4 daughters. He was small of stature, and wore short breeches and knee-buckles; used tobacco and ardent spirits, as was the custom in his times. He is my Great Grandfather.

My Grandfather, (John D. Nellis) married a widow Keller, whose husband was killed the Revolutionary War, in battle. Her oldest son was Jacob Keller; and the youngest son was named Henry Keller. They both grew up to manhood, and married, raised families and have long since died. Occupation, husbandmen. Jacob had a large family, and died with the dyspepsia. In those days the Law gave all the property to the oldest son; and the rest of the children got nothing. Hence Jacob inherited all the property of his Father and Henry his brother, was given a farm by his step-father, John D. Nellis.-----The Family Registry compiled by George Nellis.

Children of ELIZABETH KLOCK and JOHN NELLIS are:

101. i. RUEBEN<sup>5</sup> NELLIS, b. March 30, 1808; d. June 24, 1856.

She married PETER P. WALRATH, son of PETER WALRATH and ANNA HILLIGAS. He was born September 18, 1793, and died May 02, 1831.

Notes for EVA KLOCK:

Evaline Klock, wife of Peter P. Walrath, d. Aug. 2, 1865. (According to Frothingham's "History of Montgomery County", Eaveline was also spelled Evaline, and she was the daughter of George G. Klock of St. Johnsville.)

Ann Eve, wife of Peter H. Walrath, d. Dec. 21, 1848, age 85 yrs 9 mos 16 days (The date of death for Ann Eve, wife of Peter H. Walrath, was listed as Dec. 21, 1818. According to the will of Peter H., his wife was alive at the time the will was probated on Aug. 1, 1831. I assumed that the date of death was a typo, or misreading, and that her listed age at death was correct. I corrected the death date to the year 1848.)

From the Family Tree of Jerry Walrath

If she died in 1865 and lived to be 85 that would make her born in 1780. If she died in 1848 and died at 85, then she was born in 1763. I have her born in 1792, so if she died at 85, she would have died in 1877. Anna was from a large family and her birth day could be wrong as well. I have her mother, Catherine Bellinger born in 1748 and giving birth to her first child, Sophia in 1767 at the age of 19 and her last child, Evaline born in 1792 at the age of 44. I have changed the death date to Dec. 21, 1848 and her birth date to birth date to 1780. If her mother's birth date is correct, that would make her giving birth to Eveline at the age of 32. At any rate, the date of birth and deaths of Evaline Klock are in question...

Evaline Klock lived in Stone Rauby, N.Y. or what was known as Palatine Bridge.----Family Register, George Nellis.
