Notes for ELSIE MARIE BENNETT:

Elsie was a country school teacher, and later had a real estate and insurance office in Paradise, California.

I have a paper back book about the life of Elsie Hamburger. Written by Lois Halliday McDonald and published by Paradise Fact & Folklore, Inc. , Paradise California. The book, Elsie Hamburger "I Never Look Back" "About the Subject" From the back cover of the book " Elsie Bennett Hamburger was a Paradise, California resident for nearly 50 years. She typified the "new woman" in an economic climate hostile to single parents. She broke the sex barrier as a professional person (in real estate) and in politics. In her later years, she was Butte County's "Mrs. Republican," correspondent fo governors and presidents.

The book tells of her life and includes several family pictures, including that of her grandfather, James G. Klock and her grandmother Sally Ann Mason Klock. Elsie had little to do with her father, Joel Bennett and in fact had a strong dislike for him. She rarely saw him. Elsie married Ike Hamburger, sixteen years her senior. The romance was keep a secret until their marriage was announced in the newspapers all over Montana. After they were married they left Helena, Montana for Washington, D.C.

where Isaac served as a private secretary to the Republican Senator from Montana, Thomas H. Carter.

Notes for ISAAC HAMBURGER:

Isaac Hamburger was the son of Morris and Anna Hamburger. Morris was born in Alsace, France, and his wife, Anna was born in England. Issac (Ike) graduated from New York University, where he was an honor student. Before moving to Paradise, California in the 1919, Isaac Hamburger and his family lived in Alaska where Isaac was the private secretary and court reporter for E.E. Cushman, Judge of the Third Judicial Division of Territorial Alaska.--- From the book Elsie Hamburger "I Never Look Back."

The Death of Isaac Hamburger: From the Book Elsie Hamburger "I Never Look Back"

"On October 18, 1923, shortly before the evening dinner hour, a Seattle patrolman fired a fusilade of shots at a suspected shoplifter fleeing through dense crowds on Westlake Avenue, Seattle. Patrolman S.H. Short's bullets, fired at the sidewalk to frighten the fleeing suspect into submission, ricocheted into two passersby. One was Mrs. Violet Davis, two small children at her side. Her spinal cord was severed. The other chance target was Isaac Hamburger, shot through the abdomen. Judge E.E. Cushman, for whom Hamburger was secretary, narrowly escaped injury.

It was Friday morning, the 19th, before the telegram with news of Ike's injury, reached Elsie. She got word to Lewis to come home and made arrangements for the children to be cared for by Paradise neighbors. She was on the first available train out of Chico for Seattle on Saturday, and once on the train had more time than she would have chosen to think over both the situation ahead and the children left behind. In Portland she scribbled a hasty note to little Helen, who more than the others, Elsie feared, would be at a loss to understand the course of events. She sent back with the letter the telegram that had come to her, so that Lewis could read it to Helen and explain. But in the confusion, the letter did not get mailed.

It was in the early morning hours on Monday that the train pulled into the Seattle station and Elsie was whisked away to the hospital. Ike was conscious; he had, indeed, forced himself to remain clear, and when Elsie walked into his hospital room his face lighted with joy at seeing her. Then that well of energy he had tapped to live for a sight of her face, and word that his family was in good hands was exhausted, and Ike died holding Elsie's hand. It was 7:45 a.m., October 21."
