Nellis Klock Family and the Newspaper Business

Rev. Nellis Klock was born August 24, 1831 in Montgomery County, New York. He was the son of Danial J. Klock and Nancy Nellis. Rev. Nellis Klock was a Methodist Minister, a School Teacher, and a Newspaper Owner and Editor.

Nellis Klock was the founder of the Holland Sentinel in Holland, Michigan. He founded the Holland Sentinel in 1896 which is still in business today in the City of Holland.. He also published another paper in Holland called the Independent, a weekly newspaper that continued until 1904. The Holland City Directory (1897 - 1898) has him listed as living at 190 E. Eight Street in Holland Michigan The U.S Post Office is now at that address. The City Directory lists Nellis L. Klock as publisher; Ernest G. Klock as Associate Editor; Lillian I. Klock and Ida Klock as Compositors. Nellis Klock married Lovian T. Ottman who was also born in New York. Lovian Ottman was also a school teacher. Nellis Klock and Lovian had five children, Jay E., John Nellis, Ernest G., Lillian I. and Ida. All were in the Newspaper Business. Nellis sold the Holland Sentinel to Roland C. Eisley, from Benton Harbor, Michigan, after two years of running the Sentinel. Nellis Klock son John Nellis Klock married Carrie Belle Eisley so I would think that Roland Eisley would have been the brother of Carrie Belle Eisley. Roland Eisley ran the paper for several years and moved the paper several times within the City of Holland. Today the Holland Sentenel, still in business is the largest newspaper in the city. It is hard to find copies of the Holland Sentenel before 1912. No complete collection of the sentinels exists before 1912. No one knows for sure, but rumors have it that the editors and early staff members burned the back copies to keep warm. Some copies of the Sentinel was found tucked away in a metal trunk in by Jan Brower in 1996. In 1909, Mrs. Brower's father, Herman Keikenveldt, then a boy of 11, started out at the Sentinel earning $1.00 per week delivering papers. He later became a pressman. He keep the copies of the Sentinel in the old trunk. John Nellis Klock, the son of Rev. Nellis Klock, was also a Newspaper Editor. John was born Oct. 18, 1865 in Lawrence County, New York. He founded the Stockton Harald in 1888 at the age of 22. He was the Founder of the Evening News and later the News-Palladium in Benton Harbor, Michigan. He is considered Benton Harbors the Greatest Builder. His monuments are all about the City of Benton Harbor. John Nellis Klock served as chairman of the First Congregational United Church of Christ. on the building committee when the current church building was constructed. He donated the 15 bell carillon and the E.M. Skinner organ to the church. He gave the 90 acre track of land on Lake Michigan to the city which is know as Jean Klock Park. Named after his daughter, who died in infancy. Today Jean Klock Park is a priceless municipal possession that stretches a half mile along Lake Michigan's shore. He also developed Roosevelt Park, another gift to the city. He donated the funds to built a pool at the YMCA. John Nellis Klock was President of the Benton Harbor Malleable, and under his administration it became one of the city's most prosperous industries. He was also President of the Mercy Hospital for many years where he donated the money to build a wing on the Hospital and was a one term mayor of the city of Benton Harbor.

Jay E. Klock was the eldest son of Rev. Nellis Klock. He was born in Hammond, New York, on February 14, 1864. Jay Klock attended Albany Academy, but did not graduate. In 1885. He took a job at the Albany Evening Journal. He was a proofreader, reporter, and telegraph editor. Later he bought the Ogedensburg Signal, a local paper his father was then running. He later sold that paper and returned to the Albany Journal as a editorial writer and reporter of the state senate. He remained there until 1889, when he purchased controlling interest in the Daily Times, a paper of political independence in Little Falls, New York. Then in 1891 he purchased the Kingston Daily Freeman, the Republican official paper of Ulster County. Jay Klock left a sum of money which the Key Bank in New York now administrates. The income from the funds is used exclusively for grants for charitable, religious, scientific, literary or educational purposes.

Note: Nellis Klock was a ordained minister. He held charges at Avoca, Sharon, Knox, Orleans and Louisburg in the state of Illinois. He stoped preaching because of an affection of the throat. He later became a fruit farmer in Illinois and died in 1911.

Notes for JAY E. KLOCK:

Jay E. Klock was the eldest son of Nellis Klock. He was born in Hammond, New York on February 14, 1864. His mother and father were school teachers, since there was no compulsory school attendance at that time, he was educated at home. He attended the Albany Academy, but did not remain to graduate. He got a job at the Albany Evening Journal as a proofreader reporter and telegraph editor. Two years later he bought the Ogdensburg Signal, a local paper his father was running. A year or so later, Jay sold the Ogdensburg Signal and returned to the staff of the Journal as editorial writer and reporter of the state senate. He remained there until 189. He then purchased a controlling interest in the Daily Times, a paper of political independence in Little Falls, New York. In 1891 he purchased the Kingston Daily Freeman, the Republican official paper of Ulster county. Jay belonged to the Masonic order, being a Shriner. Jay also belonged to the Elks and the Royal Arcanum.

The following was in the Commercial Advertiser, Canton, N.Y., Tuesday, September 27, 1927

The Ogdensburg Signal ceased to exist last week when its editor, J. Emerson Klock, announced that its Subscription list and accounts had been sold to the Northern Tribune of Gouverneur. Another Klock stopped!

DIED IN GREAT AGONY

A Veteran Soldier of the Civil War Dies Rather Mysteriously.

After having been ill but a few hours, Priskas Klock died at mid night Saturday in great agony, the symptoms of his illness bearing somewhat of a resemblance to those accompanying poisoning. Coroner Grube, who was called, does not take much stock in the poison story, but in order to ascertain accurately the cause of death, he decided to hold an inquest, fixing the hour for 10 o'clock this morning, at hose house # 8. James Lester , John Taylor, Charles Robinson, T.E. Wellmen, William Wirtz and Charles Richardson, were impaneled as the jury. Deceased was 61 years of age and was a veteran of the civil war, having served in Co. I, Tenth Michigan infantry. He leaves a son, residing in Bay City, and two brothers, John and Charles of Tuscola.

At the coroner's inquest, held yesterday at the hose house # 8, over the remains of Priskas Klock, whose sudden death Saturday night has been mentioned, the jury found that death was due to congestion of the brain, and not poisoning, as was first rumored. A brief funeral service was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 609 Russell street, and the remains were laid to rest in the soldiers' plot in Forest Lawn cemetery.

From the above newspaper clipping, I think John was the son of Benjamin Klock and not Isaac as I have listed. Charles may also have been the son of Benjamin and Anna Ritter.

He leaves a son, residing in Bay City, and two brothers, John and Charles of Tuscola.

At the coroner's inquest, held yesterday at the hose house # 8, over the remains of Priskas Klock, whose sudden death Saturday night has been mentioned, the jury found that death was due to congestion of the brain, and not poisoning, as was first rumored. A brief funeral service was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 609 Russell street, and the remains were laid to rest in the soldiers' plot in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Notes for SUSANNAH H. BACKUS:

Notes from the Genealogy of Sherman O. Klock. Susannah "Backus" Klock was his mother.

Jacob A. Klock (No 411) born Jan. 25, 184, died Oct 21, 1911, married Sept. 29, 1864, Susan A. Backus, born July 8, 1841, died June 28, 1926, daughter of George Backus and Pheobe Levine. George Backus saw service in the War of 1812, and dropped dead on the street in Ogdensburg, N.Y., which was prior to the death of Pheobe who fell into the open fire place, and was burned to death. This occurred when Susan A. was a child of 5 or 6 years of age. She was taken into the family of Lewis Drake, and reared as their own daughter until she became the wife of Jacob A. Klock.

The writer often heard her relate incidents of the Revolutionary War, told to her by Peter Moyer, the father of Mrs. Lewis Krake, who himself was scalped by the Indians during those perilous times. The wound never healed, and she said that Mr. Moyer wore a patch over it until the day of his death.

Susan A. had a brothers Andrew, Sylvester, and one other who was a shoe merchant in Montreal, Canada. Her father George, is believed to have been married before he married Pheobe Levine, and there were children also by the first wife. Although some say that it was Pheobe who was married before her union with George Backus, and that she married a Pangburn, and had children by him. They resided at Oakville, N.Y. Burial at Oak Hill Cemetery, Herkimer, N.Y.---SOK Genealogy

According to the Obit. of Susan "Backus" Klock, she had five children and only two survived her. I only have four children.

Notes for ARRON R. KLOCK:

Aaron R. Klock, a resident of Pasadena, California, left St. Lawrence County in 1880, and located in Blue Island, then a suburb of Chicago, Ill., where he was engaged in the building of many of the finest homes in that locality. Having prospered in the contracting business and with a desire to go further west, he left Blue Island in 1886, and settled in Pasadena, where he resumed his business. Many of the best buildings in Los Angeles, San Diego, and Pasadena, are a result of his skill and workmanship.---SOK
